

INDEX TO VOL. XLVIII.

A'Beckett, Gilbert, Abbot, his qualities as an author 136—comic histories by 137.
Abou, Edmond, his writings quoted as authority 83—their indelicacy 89—his description of Italian village 89—his false views on the subservience of religion to state 102.
Absenteeism, increased in Ireland after Union 504.
Addresses, Rejected, extracts from 123 and 124.
Adults, questions put to, when admitted into Workhouses 274—particulars respecting written in Indoor Relief List 274.
Affairs, ecclesiastical, disputes on, in time of Roger Bacon 319.
Affections, human, deified in present age 93—should not take the place of God's law 94—not necessary for sympathy with the human race 96—should be sanctified by grace 98.
Age, present, the false philosophy of delights in the indefinite 433—season of false disguises 86—false maxims of 87—spirit of tends to paganism 88.
Agriculture abandoned by inhabitants in the vicinity of Rome 245—decay of under Roman Emperors 245—neglect of dates from reign of Tiberius 245.
Agro Romano, property of private individuals 248—proprietors of, have resisted cultivation 248.
Albano, road to, deserted in time of Cicero 236.
Alcius, founder of French School of Law 459.
Alison, extract from, on state of Roman Campagna 252.
Anaxagoras, first eminent Greek Philosopher 17—rejects idea of chance 17—his views compared with those of Anaximander 17—his philosophy considered 17.
Animals, all sprung from four or five progenitors 51—different species of, dependant on each other 60.
Anley, Christopher, his facility in rhyming 113—his coarseness 113.
Annexion, unanimous vote for, in Italy 153—procured by unfair means 155—really desired by large masses of Italian population 158.
Appenines, the inhabitants beyond—their want of piety 91.
Architecture, Doric, derived from Egypt 25.
Aristotle, philosophy of, in direct opposition to that of Plato 34—practical character of 34—his gigantic powers 35—his influence on the early Christians less than that of Plato 35—his system advocated by John Damascene 36—used by St. Thomas Aquinas 36.
Artists, Catholic, possess peculiar power unknown to other artists 446.
Art, Industrial School, should be applied to Catholic children 290—should be made obligatory 291.

Ascoli, Jerome de, entertains charges against Bacon 334—becomes Pope 335.
Asides, domestic, by Hood 131.
Assassination, justification of, by Count Radlo, listened to in England 449.
Astronomy, study of, subject to suspicion 316—system of, invented by Roger Bacon 327—confounded with Judicial astrology 327.
Augustine, St., extract from 103—applies to present age 104.
Austria, John Archduke of, his proclamation 163.
Authority, Catholic, weight of, on moral truth considered 397.

Bacon, Lord, first writer of modern times who had true ideas of science of jurisprudence 461.

Bacon, Roger, article on 316 to 350—his history little studied in England 316—his works edited by Sir J. Romilly 317—his writings present picture of the learning of his age 317—considered by modern writers as opponent of scholastic philosophy 317—his career not that of polemic 318—his age especially that of scholastic philosophy 318—his name not changed 320—his independent conduct towards King 320—studies in the University of Paris 321—his life little known in detail 321—his excessive labours 322—his kindness to poor scholars 322—is restrained in studies by rules of order 325—his success in all branches of study 326—forbidden to communicate writings 327—jealousy excited by 327—his gratitude towards Clement IV. 330—his works composed with extraordinary rapidity 333—charges brought against 334—his condemnation and punishment 334—his death 335—hostility against personal 335—his scheme of learning thought to be opposed to theology 336—his opinions deduced from reasoning 341—complains of common ignorance in learned languages 347—his career commented on 348 and 349.

Barham, Rev. Richard Harris, author of Ingoldsby Legends, his resemblance to Hood 133—his style mocking 133—his facility in rhyming 134—not wanting in pathos 134.

Beatitude, life and movement, can be employed in 437.

Beccaria, treatise of on crimes and punishments 472.

Becket, St. Thomas, article on 253 to 266—position of brought plainly before reader 254—his mortification and piety 255—his letters worthy of attention 255—legends of, sifted 262—his death the triumph of his cause 263.

- Beetles*, of Madeira, account of, by Mr. Wollaston 62.
- Beings*, human, desire for good common to 423.
- Belarmine*, Cardinal, his theological works commencement of modern period 367.
- Berry*, murderer of Madame Mazel, guilt of, discovered 485.
- Blackstone*, treatise of, really valuable 136—extract from 136.
- Board*, Central, weakness of 313.
- Board*, Poor Law, appealed to on subject of Priests' visits 277—decision of, in favour of Catholics 277—reply of, in respect to history used in Kirkdale schools 286—circular issued by relating to Act of Parliament 293—order issued by affecting registration of Catholic children 296—orders of, do not apply to all parishes 305—letter written by 311—want of power possessed by 312.
- Bobadil*, character of 128.
- Bodin*, John, political writings of 460.
- Boetius*, intellect of, formed by philosophy of Aristotle 35.
- Bologna*, no priest found in, to celebrate triumph of Victor Emmanuel 183.
- Bonard*, Mr., Chinese martyr, relics of, discovered 42—and buried 43.
- Bosquet*, extract from 105.
- Bradford*, accused falsely of murder 489—executed 490—innocence of, established 490.
- Brahminism*, summary of, by Dr. Robertson 21.
- Breeding*, careful selection in, its influence commonly known 53—enormous power of 54.
- Breeds*, varieties of, produced in short space of time 78.
- Brewer*, works of Roger Bacon, edited by 316.
- Brunt*, James, robbery committed by 477—confession of 478.
- Brushwood*, in the Campagna, usefulness of 240.
- Buller*, Mr. Justice, opinion of, on circumstantial evidence 474.
- Bun*, Mr., his attack on Punch 140.
- Burlesque*, must not be confounded with travesty 118.
- Butler*, William Archer, Lectures on Ancient Philosophy, by 1—his merits as author 1—his work reprint of Lectures delivered in Trinity College 6—displays want of critical acumen 6.
- Calendar*, reform of, urged by Roger Bacon 343.
- Campbell*, Lord, guilty of unfairness, in history of St. Thomas 260.
- Campagna*, Roman, article on 223 to 252—condition of, brought as charge against Papal government 228—long subject of interest in Europe 229—impression produced by 229—deserted condition of 229—rich vegetation of 230—once well populated 230—scene of first struggles of the Roman people 230—question of, much discussed 232—waste at the accession of the Popes to temporal sovereignty 233—gradually growing waste in time of Augustus 235—quantity of, annually tilled 240—condition of, not to be improved in judgment of English travellers 242—possible to be reclaimed 244—cultivation of, enforced by various decrees 251.
- Campanella*, Thomas, writings of 462.
- Capitalists*, great, wishes of, cannot be set aside by any government 248.
- Canterburgh*, insincere conduct of, on question of Union 508.
- Catholics*, condition of, in the East, not sufficiently known 37—unfair mention of by Protestant Press 38.
- Catholics*, English, require means of publishing 450.
- Catholics*, Irish, their gradual increase of power after Union 506.
- Cause*, popularity of, more considered than principle in the present day 447.
- Cecil*, narratives of, contain numerous cases of persons unjustly put to death for murder 490.
- Century*, last, humorists of, 109.
- Ceremonics*, invariably found in ancient laws 457—originally symbolical 457.
- Caridade*, principle of 318.
- Chaplains*, Catholic should be officially appointed for Workhouses 280—expenses of, to be furnished out of rates paid by Catholics 280—should in all respects hold same position as Protestant chaplains 283.
- Chemistry*, knowledge of, by Roger Bacon 344.
- Children*, Catholic, condition of, in Workhouses 282—small numbers of, admitted to, in metropolitan schools 289—impossibility of their being taught their religion 289—condition of, may be remedied 290—might be transferred to Catholic establishments 290—forlorn condition of, in places far from Catholic priest 291—receiving out-door relief, Act of Parliament providing for education of 293—fewness of, in metropolitan schools 295—brought up as Protestants in intervals of religious registration 308—liable to be influenced 314.
- Children*, illegitimate, religious registration of, not provided for 297—proportion of, in workhouses 297—ought to be brought up in religion of mother 305.
- Chinese*, courage displayed by, in the cause of religion 42.
- Christians*, Japanese, retain some traditions of the teaching of St. Francis Xavier 46—martyrdom of 46.
- Church*, Catholic, authority of, must be treated with deference by Catholic philosophers 372—deference to, does not enslave intellect 373—teaching of, on moral obligation 397—power of adaptation in, to all human wants 424—power of, in reconciling paradoxes 227—influenced by persons not priests 227.
- Church*, Catholic, new Glories of, article on 37 to 50—preface to, by Cardinal Wiseman 39—extract from 49.
- Clarendon*, speech of St. Thomas at, not genuine 260—occurrence at, described 261.
- Classification*, from common descent, impossible in animals and plants 74.
- Clement IV.*, Pope, letter to, by Roger Bacon 320—writes to request the account of discoveries made by Bacon 328—Opus Tertium dedicated to 329—gratitude felt towards, by Bacon 329.
- Clergy*, English, trying position of, in reign of Henry II. 253.
- , Italian, want of spirit in 181—subservience of 182—responsible for many of the evils in Italy 186.
- , Portuguese, heroic conduct of 186.
- Climate*, indirect influence of, on animal creation 61.
- Codification*, proof of maturity in a nation 454—dangers of 455 and 456.
- Coles*, case of 309—commented on 310.
- Colman*, works of, generally known 122.
- Committee*, Revolutionary, established in Italy 188—proclamation of 188—power of, widely spread 189.
- Consciousness*, judgments of 375.

- Comte*, Philosophical system of, most free from contradictions 3—radically unsound 4—changes in human mind described by proofs of diseased condition 3.
- Convert*, Japanese, answer of 404.
- Corbet*, Tate, case of 491.
- Cornwallis*, letters of, important 503.
- Correspondence*, civil, of Duke of Wellington, value of 457—period comprised by 497—models of official letters 502—exhibits state of Ireland after Union 502.
- Corruption*, Parliamentary, practised by Duke of Wellington 501.
- Credit*, impossibility of, in Italy 162.
- Criticism*, sound views held on, by Bacon 348.
- Cujas*, founder of historical school of law 459.
- Cultivators*, rights of 495.
- Curia*, Peter de Maharn, referred to by Bacon 339.
- Customs*, Chinese, compliance with, difficult to decide how far right 46.
- Cynics*, school of, almost entirely ethical 21.
- D'Anglade*, Sieur, story of 486.
- De Foulques* Guy, called le Gros 328—mission of, to England 328—intercourse of, with Roger Bacon 328—made Pope 328.
- De Jure Facis* et Belli, work by Grotius, still remains greatest treatise on international law 462—not approved by all modern writers 467.
- Definition*, love of, peculiar to Catholic Church 431—dread of, in Church of England 432.
- Deity*, definition of, in the Vedas 11—idea of gradually corrupted 11.
- Delegates* from Savoy, character of 154.
- Derby*, Lord, conduct of, towards tenantry generally blamed 146—praised in Punch 147.
- Deputation* to Mr. Villiers, proposal of 292.
- Dei Involunt* never made the objects of immediate adoration 27.
- Dialects*, unhealthy, may be cultivated with patience and energy 244—instance of 244.
- Disuse*, cause of rudimentary character of eyes in moles 64.
- Doctrines* common to all eastern religions 25.
- Dogs*, numerous breeds of 54—supposed by Mr. Darwin to be descended from several stocks 55.
- Doyle*, Richard, his withdrawal from Punch 141.
- Drones*, existence of, in bee-hives, argument against Darwin's theory of selection 71.
- Dualism* associated with every form of belief 22—principles of, in Indian mythology 22.
- Dutch*, mean conduct of, in Japan 411—restrictions endured by, with respect to Christianity 412—anecdote of 412.
- Darwin*, Mr., his work on origin of species not unscientific 52—his disbelief in Revelation not necessary part of his system 52—his attack on the Scripture account of the Deluge 60—his views will not change systematic study of nature 74—his theory on the origin of man 75—his work useful to religion 79.
- Element*, Eastern, introduced into Greek philosophy at the period of the decline of Socratic Schools 7.
- Elgin*, Lord, Mission of, to China 421—energy of 402—determination of, to go to Yedo 409.
- Emanipation*, Catholic, promised to Irish after Union 504—hoped for by Irish Catholics 505—not considered in earnest by English Statesmen 506—meetings for repressed 520.
- Emperor*, Japanese, entertainment supplied by 417.
- Emperors*, German, hostile to Holy See, fate of 170.
- Empire*, Roman, only great civilized nation that has not produced great philosophers 14.
- Encyclopedists*, materialism of, tends to restore Platonism 34.
- England*, Protestant. History of, used in Kirkdale Institution 286—extracts from 287—use of indefensible 288.
- , Church of, doctrines of, handed down from Catholic Church 43—Influence of, brought to bear in workhouses 271.
- , unjust conduct of, towards Ireland, no excuse for maladministration in Papal States 241.
- English*, the, comprise characteristics of many nations 528—peculiar good nature of 529.
- , use of, in theological works 314—contrary to practice of the Church 355.
- Epithets*, different, applied to eminent men in age of Roger Bacon 321.
- Error*, tendency of, to shrink from definition 431.
- Eustace*, observations of, on the Roman Campagna 242.
- Evenings* on the Thames, article on 526 to 534.
- Evidence*, circumstantial, apology for dates from trial of Captain Donnellan 474—first bronched by Mr. Justice Buller 474—depends on private judgment 474—liable to mislead 475.
- , direct, inferior to circumstantial 475.
- Evil*, moral existence of 382—term of, cannot be explained 382—consists in privation of corresponding good 383—theory of, considered 394.
- Evils*, greatest, arise from perversion of good 426.
- Eve*, singular, produced on farm in Massachusetts 53—case of, unusual 53.
- Facts*, importance of, in formation of theories 77.
- Faith*, women's, founded on human respect 191.
- Famine*, Irish, looked on with indifference, by British Government 233.
- Farist*, emolument received by 180.
- Felix*, Perb, conference by, on progress of Christianity 451.
- Fens*, Lincolnshire, cause the same sort of fever as is caught in the Campagna of Rome 243.
- Ferrara*, scenes enacted in during Revolution 157—attack made on palace of Archbishop 158.
- Fingal*, Lord, representative of Catholic party, interview of, with Sir Arthur Wellesley, 521.
- Florence*, will not long be satisfied with Sardinian rule 166.
- Flowers*, garden, the result of cultivation for many generations 54.
- Folios*, Gilbert, letter of, not genuine 250—not to be taken as evidence against St. Thomas 260.
- Formica*, rufescens, race of, degenerate 68.
- , sanguinea, extraordinary instinct of 66—habits of, inherited 67.
- Foreigners*, jealousy of, in time of Roger Bacon, 319.
- Franciscans*, restrictions imposed, by Order of, on Roger Bacon 327.
- For*, book of martyrs by, well known in England 534.
- Gordii*, Cardinal, opinion on moral obligation 385—theory of, on natural law 399.

- German*, use of, in Theological works, in last century 358.
- Germany*, schismatical spirit abroad in last century 358.
- Gibbon*, testimony of, to desolate condition of the Campagna before the temporal power of the Popes 233.
- Gibson*, Rev. Henry, report of, on condition of Catholic children in Kirkdale institution 285.
- appeals to Poor Law Board, on the subject of History used in the school 285.*
- God*, unknown, worshipped, under name of progress 428.
- Good*, moral idea of, simple 383.
- , secret of, common desire for, known only to Christians 423.
- Gods*, adored in Greece, originally considered manifestations of Supreme Being 10.
- Goths*, confusion caused by, in neighbourhood of Rome 246.
- Government*, modern, principles of, article on 81 to 106.
- , Papal, abuses of, never specified 173—existence of, attacked by revolutionists 174—strict economy of 175—not sufficiently prepared for approaching troubles 175—charged with all evils in Italy since Roman Empire 231.
- Government*, Prussian, measures taken by, to procure cultivation of land oppressive 250.
- , responsible for evil which it does not seek to remove 237.
- , temporal, seek only the worldly advantages of their subjects 91.
- Greenfield*, Lord, honest conduct of, with regard to Catholic Emancipation 57.
- Grammar*, Universal theory for constructing, by Bacon 326.
- Griffin*, Gerald, story told by, in Barber of Bantry, founded on fact 486.
- Grim*, Edward, healed through relics of St. Thomas 236.
- Grosset*, Bishop of Lincoln, friend of Roger Bacon 323.
- Grotius*, works of, considered 462—opinions of, on public and private wars 463 to 467.
- Growth*, circulation of, various instances of, recorded 70.
- , Intellectual, must be considered in its normal state 4.
- Guide*, New Bath, published by Anstey 113—its popularity 113—extract from 114.
- Gurney*, Old Bailey, trials reported by 490.
- Habits*, inherited, in animals only perpetuated when advantageous 68.
- Hales*, Alexander, of, alluded to in works of Itoger Bacon 319.
- Harris*, Mr. high character of Japanese, given by 406.
- Hayes*, Mr., murder of 489.
- Heade*, lecture on, extracts from 115 and 116.
- Henry*, King, effect produced on by death of St. Thomas 263.
- Heros*, Mr., introduction to History of Jurisprudence, by 451—labours of, commended 496.
- Hibbard*, by Smart, extract from 110.
- History*, local, value of 253.
- Hobbes*, writings of, considered 468—despotism, supported by 470.
- Hood*, Thomas, type of laughing philosopher 126—extracts 126 to 129—his woodcuts 132—his powers of pathos 133.
- Hooker*, Ecclesiastical Polity of, commented on by Pope Clement VIII. 401.
- Horace*, extract from 106—evidence from, on desolate condition of Campagna 235.
- Humorists*, modern, article on 107 to 149.
- Horace*, in London, not entirely successful 126.
- Horse*, descended from animal striped like a Zebra 70.
- Howard*, Mr., observations of, on Roman Campagna 242.
- Humanity*, progress of, cannot be estimated without definite standard 435—put in place of Christianity 87.
- Hamour*, English, diversity of 108.
- Hypocinth*, St., extracts from life of 95.
- Hybrids*, productiveness of, considered 72.
- Idas*, absolute and relative, difference of 386 and 387.
- Idleness*, to be distinguished from sloth, 529—merits of 530.
- Inheritance*, power of, in transmitting habits in animals 65.
- Imola*, conduct of Revolutionary party in 156—her abandonment of the Pope 157.
- Impost*, laid by Pius VII., on uncultivated land, 251.
- Industry*, encouraged by Church 444—must receive Christian impulse 445.
- Inmates*, Catholic, of Workhouses, religious difficulties of, 275—possess different degrees of liberty in different houses 276—must in some houses if dangerously ill, wait for fixed time of priests coming 277—may be refused permission to attend Mass 278—in some houses not allowed to attend Mass till sixty years old 278—allowed to go out to Mass once a fortnight 279—difficulties of in attending Sacraments 281.
- Innocent III.*, Pope, boy at the death of St. Thomas Becket 265—his affection for memory of Saint 265—his successful struggles to support the rights of the Church 265.
- Insects*, unfertile, case of, considered 69.
- Institutions*, charitable, in Rome, number and excellence of 173.
- , Oriental, immobility of 13—contrasted with those of the West 13.
- Intellect*, Greek, relation of, to Oriental philosophy 15.
- , human, requires external standard 373—unable to create consistent religion 27.
- Intrigues*, English, in Italy 184.
- Introduction*, Philosophical, by Mr. Ward, contains full treatise on Moral Philosophy 364—divided into two parts 365—Preface of 365.
- Intuition*, Intellectual, doctrine of, not original 2.
- , judgment of 375—analysis of 376—illustrations of 375.
- Ireland*, state of, during Union, illustrated by letters from Lord Cornwallis 503—grievous condition of, attributed by Sir Arthur Wellesley to oppression of the landlords 516.
- Irish*, sympathy of, for French 517—treated like an alien people by Sir Arthur Wellesley 524.
- Italy*, cities of, would lose their pre-eminence if united into one kingdom 164—her greatest danger hereafter from supineness of the good 168—pre-eminently the land of cities 169—has never been a united nation 169—her cities divided by hereditary feuds 170—powerful only by isolation 170—can only be regenerated by following natural bent 171—state of, resembles Portugal in 1828, 185.
- Italians*, conscious of intellectual decline 160—attribute it to influence of the Papacy 161—jealous of authority 161—their mutual mistrust 161—their want of energy 162—desire - revolution not for the sake of liberty but to gain united kingdom 163.

- Japan*, admission of, American mission to 401—mission of Lord Elgin to 401—Treaty with, speedily settled 407—scenery of 407—travelling in, 414—dinner in, described 417.
- , Oliphant's, Article on 401 to 422.
- Japanese*, influence of past Christianity upon 402—character of entirely 403—strong religious impressions of 404—high character given to by St. Francis Xavier 405—honesty and gentleness of 405—amusements of 415—disagreeable customs of 418—general licentiousness of 420—want of cordiality towards Europeans 423.
- Jennings*, John, story of, 477—innocence of, proved 478.
- John*, pupil of Roger Bacon, assistance afforded to, by him 323—letter concerning, addressed to Clement IV. 324.
- Jonson*, Ben, humour of, wanting in universal application 109.
- Juggler*, Japanese, account of 416.
- Judgments*, analytical and synthetical, difference between 382 and 383—not explained with sufficient clearness 388—nature of, considered 389 and 390.
- , moral, analysis of, 384.
- Jurispudence*, science of, most important to man after that of theology 451—first principles of, should result from Natural Law 452.
- Justinian* code of, brought from obscurity by Fruasius 439—influence of, in Europe 459.
- Kim*, Agatha, history of 39—her martyrdom 40.
- Knowledge*, accumulated, of modern times not favourable to development of intellect 27.
- Lafarino*, president of revolutionary committee in Italy 188.
- Lamorticiere*, proclamation of 106—noble conduct of 177.
- Landowners*, Prussian, rights of, set aside by edict 249.
- Lands*, waste, in Ireland, condition of, due to British government 232—enormous extent of 238—surpass extent of the Campagna 238—might be reclaimed 239—If cultivated, would vastly improve condition of the people 240—no natural impediment to improvement of 243.
- Languages*, diversity of, compared to diversity of species 80.
- , system for acquiring, invented by Roger Bacon 325—study of, in mediæval schools illustrated by writings of Bacon 341.
- Latin*, practice of, writing theological works in, customary in Church 355—authorities against 356—arguments in favour of use of 356—educational position of, altered in last century 360.
- Laughter*, power of, 107.
- Law*, Common, first maxim of, to follow intention of legislator 453.
- , natural, derives its force from supposed concordance with the will of God 452.
- , Poor, English, Article on 269 to 316.
- Lampdale*, Hon. C., speech of, reported in Tablet 315.
- Law*, Roman, originally derived from custom 457—characterised by religious solemnity 457—history of 458—influence of, felt in all modern codes 458.
- Law*, statute, in Ireland, tyranny of 519.
- Laws*, code of conditions properly belonging to 456.
- Le Gros*, Guy, mission of, to England 328—intercourse of, with Roger Bacon 328—called de Foulques 328—made Pope 328.
- Le Brun*, valet of Madame Mæzel, falsely accused of murder 484—death of under torture 484—innocence of, proved 485.
- Legends*, Ingoldsey, extracts from 134 and 135.
- Legislation*, science of, article on 451 to 497.
- Levithan*, quotation from 469.
- Leves*, G. H., Biographical history of, Philosophy by 1—his brilliant style 2—endeavours to prove metaphysical knowledge impossible 3—his arguments unsound 5.
- Life*, struggle for, produces modification of original form in animals 58—its severity in proportion to fertility of nature 59.
- Light*, intuitionist 360.
- Liou*, Peter, his early martyrdom 40—tortures endured by 40.
- List*, Indoor Relief, established not by act of Parliament, but by order of Poor Law Board 274—only binding on workhouses 274.
- Literature*, English, always famous for excellence in humorous writing 108.
- Long*, Charles, letter to, from Duke of Wellington 510—reply of 511.
- MacCarthy*, case of 309.
- MacDermots*, case of, in Bermondsey union 261.
- Machiavelli*, modern opinion of, unjust 459—character of, upright 460.
- Magnus*, Albertus, mention of, by Bacon, 339.
- Malaria*, in Campagna, owing to nature of the soil 241—renders attempt to cultivate soil dangerous 242—referred to by ancient writers 243.
- Mahomedanism* incapable of fusion with any mystical philosophy 32.
- Maipaz*, Hester, story of, by Miss Landon 487 and 488.
- Mammals*, male organs of, 61.
- Mansel*, Mr., argument of, opposed by Mr. Ward 378—extract from 378 and 379.
- Manuscript*, Bodleian, imperfect account given in, of the Opus Minus 332.
- Montfort*, Amauri de, mention of, by Bacon 339.
- Marshall*, Pontine, reasons for not draining 174.
- Martyrs*, Chinese, their charity and faith 41.
- Mass*, deprivation of, not fair punishment to paupers 279—should be said every Sunday in Workhouses 279.
- Masses*, the Catholic Church popular with in all ages 48—Influence of the Church over, conceded by Protestants 48.
- Mæzel*, Madame, murder of 482—falsely attributed to her valet 481.
- Mazzini*, doctrines of, spread in Italian States 165—invertebrate foe of Sardinia 165—quotation from 188—power of 188.
- Memorandum*, Pomagnone, extract from 103.
- Metempsychosis*, doctrine of, derived from Phœcydes 18.
- Mexico*, state of, compared with that of Japan 403.
- Milton* will not be contented to hold subordinate position 167.
- Mitt*, Mr., philosophical teaching of, opposed by Mr. Ward 378.
- Mind*, human, history of, required 2—has never been written 3.
- Mediterranean*, low plains bordering every where unhealthy 241.
- Norris*, Canon, monograph of 253—his work unfairly attacked 259—extract from 261.

Minister's Wooing, the, article on 190 to 228—main interest of, derived from character of the writer 190—author of, in need of Catholic faith 190—extracts from 192 to 224—too great exaltation of the natural in 227—contains no willful misrepresentations against Catholics 227.

Mind, Roman, practical character of, unfavourable to philosophy 14.

Misrule, false charge of, in Papal States 153.

Missionaries to Japan 47.

Missions, Protestant, in China, failure of 47.

Mobs, Irish Catholic, conduct of 513.

Monasteries, scandalous state of, in Italy 187.

Moore, Thomas, extract from poems of 100.

Mors, Sir Thomas, character of, perfect 465.

Murderers condemned to death, state of mind of 473.

Mythology, Greek, origin of, uncertain 9—ludicrous narratives of 10—began in worship of the powers of nature 15.

Nagasaki Bay of, described 408—town of, described 409.

Nash, Beau, his patronage of Bath 113—commemorated in, 114.

Nature and Grace, Philosophical Introduction to, by Ward, article on 351 to 400—treated in their mutual relations 353—subject of important in Protestant country 353.

—, worship of, characterises all ancient mythologies 15—attains highest development in Greece 16.

Nelley Grey, ballad of 129.

New Bath Guide 114.

Newspapers, Irish, bribes bestowed on editors of, by Sir Arthur Wellesley 518.

Nicholas III., Pontificate of, hostile to Bacon 334.

Number, theory of 19.

Offices, civil and religious, not incongruous 88.

Oliphant, Mr., account given by, of Catholic missions 45—short residence of, in Japan 404.

Optics, theory of 67—Bacon in advance of age 343.

Opus Majus, published by Dr. Jebb 331—divided into seven parts 331—embraces whole scope of physical science 333.

Opus Minus, no complete manuscript of, yet discovered 332—contents of, inaccurately described by Dr. Jebb 332—badly transcribed in Bodleian Manuscript 332.

Opus Terrium, introduction of, addressed to Clement IV. 329—intended as preamble to other works 332—extract from 337 and 338—extract from, on Chemistry 344.

Oracles, system of, derived from Lybia 25.

Order, August, of Poor Law Board inefficacious 312—legality of, doubted 312.

Orfei, Cardinal, his revenue seized by Tuscan authorities 182.

Organs, rudimentary, proceed from inheritance 83.

Ornithorynchus, little variety in species of 80.

Paganism, maxims of, suitable to present day 79.

Papacy harmonises with national temper in Italy 172—equal to every difficulty 172.

Palmerston, Lord, his intrigues successful in Portugal 184.

Pamphlets, popular, on religious subjects, not to be accounted theology 359.

Panhelism consistent with worship of numerous gods 9—not widely spread among the people in Greece 9—suited to the natives of Hindoostan 13.

Pardon bestowed on persons found innocent after conviction, injustice of 479.

Parent, religion of, meant by parliament to determine religion of child 501.

Parliament, Act of, affecting religious liberty in Workhouses 275—loosely interpreted in some establishments 276—providing for education of children receiving outdoor relief 293—requires interpretation as to the religious education of children 300—obscurely worded 301—provides only for education of children of inmates 302.

Parodies on modern writers, by Messrs. Yates and Brough 137—extracts from 138.

Pars Secunda, in Summa of St. Thomas, treated of in Philosophical Introduction 370—divided into five books 370.

Pars Tertia, in Summa of St. Thomas, dependent on Pars prima and Pars secunda 370.

Pasturage, cultivation of, more profitable than husbandry to Romans under the emperors 246.

Patriots, Italian, exertions of 181.

Peasant, Irish, condition of, described by Mr. Mill 239.

Peasantry Roman, contentment of 90—their piety 90.

Peasantry, Irish, condition of, inferior to that of English in same position 491.

People, English, superstition of 84.

—, social condition of any, cannot be abstracted from religion 402.

Perceval, Mr., bigotry of 507.

Peel, Sir Robert, mention of, in correspondence of Duke of Wellington 515.

Persecutions of Christians in present age, well proved 37—news of, coldly received by Catholics 38—history of, recorded by order of the Pope 38.

Persians, their theory on hostile principles of good and evil 22.

Philology, importance of, urged by Roger Bacon, 342.

Philosophy, Greek, article on, 1 to 36—origin of disputed, 7—derived from Eastern philosophy, ibid.—supported by Dr. Moore to be reproduction of primitive revelation, 8—indeinitely connected with national mythology, 8—tenets of during fifth and sixth centuries, 8—revolution in, in latter half of fifth century 19—belongs to system of Eastern philosophy 24—Eastern origin of, proved by extrinsic arguments 25—excludes the ideas of Providence and creation 24—influence of on the world 29.

Philosophers Greek, had the means of communicating with philosophers of Persia 23—except Aristotle and Plato had little influence on modern intellect 36.

Philosophy, Higher, treats of subjects belonging to theology 371.

—, metaphysical, requires undivided exercise of intellect 28.

—, work on by Mr. Ward, must be considered as Introduction to Dogmatic Theology 375—reference to English schools of, by Mr. Ward 378—histories of scarce 2—required in present age 2—modern schemes of not original 2.

Piccolomini, Madlle., homage offered to in Ireland ridiculed by Panch 144—extract on 144.

Pigeons, diversity in breeds of 55—all descended from common rock pigeon 56.
Pigeons, tumbler, produced by long continued selection of individuals 58.
Pindar, Peter, works of disfigured by coarseness 120—extract from 120, 121.
Pitt Mr., not in earnest on Catholic Emancipation 506.
Pius, Archbishop of, heroism displayed by 183.
 — Cardinal Archbishop of, his address to Tuscan authorities 159.
Pius VI., Pope, commission of to enquire into the reasons against cultivating the Campagna 248.
 — IX., Pope, grand position of in present day, 448.
Places, distribution of, letters on by Duke of Wellington 499, 500.
Plato, high titles given to by the Christian Fathers 29—represents the speculative mind of Greece 30—his writings abound with contradictions 35—his influence chiefly emotional 31—his exceeding refinement 31—influence of his eloquence 32.
Platonism, followed by men prone to mysticism 32—capable of fusion with the philosophy of Pythagoras 32—influence of guarded against by the Church 32—appears in most writings on mysticism 32—immediate effects of pernicious, permanent results good 35—apt to produce morbid state of feeling 33.
Pleasures, simple, advantage of 533.
Polytheism, essential form of Greek national worship 8—may be amalgamated with Pantheism 8—likely to be adopted by warlike and energetic nations 12.
Politics, scheme of by Hobbes contains much truth 469.
Pontiffs, Roman, regenerators of Rome and the surrounding country 234.
Poor, Catholic, Article on 269 to 316.
Pope, the, government of essentially Christian 88—must seek the spiritual advantage of his subjects 92—influence of everywhere greater than in Roman States 150—cannot give up any portion of his dominions 174—had a right to rely on the faith of treaties 177.
Population, Irish, supposed to be too large for capabilities of soil 239.
Portugal, condition of under Bon Miguel compared to present state of Italy 184.
Power, family of, unjustly treated in workhouse 309.
Proper, Protestant, practice of reading aloud in sick wards of workhouses 282.
Press, freedom of, liable to abuse 148.
Private, Catholic, visits of to paupers must be each time separately demanded 277—time for commonly fixed once in the week 277—insufficiency of time appointed for 277—refused altogether in some workhouses 278—really provided for by Act of William IV. 306.
Prisons, Roman, excellence of, 174.
Progress, desire for common in present day 423—encouraged by Church 423—must be turned in right direction 427—belongs to Catholic Church 428—object of considered 428—must depend on man's efforts 429—looked upon by world as apart from religion 429—must have definite object 434—state of in England 439, 440.
 — Intellectual, must depend on moral progress 445.
 — material, place held by in real progress 438—includes progress of intellect 438

—may form subordinate part of human progress 438—great in present day 439—appealed to in England as proof of real progress 440—exaggerated pursuit of prejudicial 441—undue development of produces egotism 443.
 — Real, Article on, 422 to 451.
 — social does not depend on human institutions 446.
Property, definition of 492.
Proprietors, Roman, difficult to manage 249—rights of cannot without blame be set aside by government 250—oppose cultivation of the Campagna 251.
Prosperity, material, should not be sole object of government 93—not the only tests of advancement in nations 101.
Prosyntism, carried on in district schools showed by statistics 299.
Prostitution, public, common practice of in Japan 420—authorized by government 421.
Punch, early contributors to 139—brilliantly successful 139—first papers of 140—degeneracy of 140—begins to attack Catholics 141—its insulting paragraphs 142—extract from 142—extract on toast given in Ireland 145—on conduct of Lord Derby 147—callousness of 147—attacks poverty 148.
Punishments, capital, arguments against 475.
 — treatise on by Beccaria 472—theory of considered 473.
Question, Roman, one of principle 102—should be so regarded by Catholics 103.
Race, human supposed origin of from fishes 65—arguments for, inconclusive 65—theory of degrading 75—in what consists the advancement of 86.
Rayneval, Mr., quotation from 176.
Reproduction, in animals affected by domestication 72.
Recard, Geolog' al, arguments against, by Mr. Darwin 79.
Reform, constitutional, not suited to Italy 176.
Religion, Greek, eastern origin of 23.
Register, Creed, existence of 274—importance of 274—probably not kept in district schools 274—should be demanded for all pauper establishments 275.
Registration, Religious, imperfect in cases of orphan or deserted children 295—order affecting, issued by Poor Law Board 295—should be determined by Act of Parliament 305—should entitle paupers to maintenance of priests of his own religion 31.
Religion, legal tests of, with respect to children insufficient 300—should be provided for by deputation 303.
Religion, primitive, first corrupted by Pantheism 27.
Remains, architectural, in the Campagna, no proof of former salubrity of climate 243. . .
Republic, in Italy impracticable 168.
Return, Poor Law Denominational, moved for by Mr. F. Ewart 296.
Revolution, Italian, its cause and character, article on 150 to 160—applied to Revolution of 1793, 158—its object to see religion on one side 178—will never rest in present state 187.
Revolution, new position of, in present age 153— from what causes arisen in Papal States 152.
Rhodes, William Barnes, his career 118—extract from his works 119.
Riccardi, Baron, insolent address of, to the Episcopate 159.

Right, Tenant, extract on 491 to 495.
Robinson, Canon, his history of St. Thomas, animated by personal dislike 258—his attack on work of Canon Morris 259—his unfair translation of St. Thomas' speech 260.
Romagna, the, violence used in, to obtain votes for Sardinia 155—lavish expenditure in 183.
Rome, old antagonist to revolution 151—superior to Berlin in number of schools 173—miserable condition of, at close of sixth century 233—restored by influences of the Popes 234.
Rotten Row, Japanese 413.
Rudie, Count, lecture by, reported 448.
Russell, Mr., pamphlet of, on education of Catholic pauper children 302.
Saints, women, influence of, in affairs of the Church 227.
Saxton, Sir Charles, letter to, from Duke of Wellington on bribing Irish Press 518.
Scenery, beauties of, not appreciated by all persons 532.
Scepticism, philosophical 377—interval of, useful in Greece 20.
Scholars, referred to by Bacon, names of, not known 339.
Schools day, Catholic, workhouse children in some cases might be sent to 292.
School, Eleatic, philosophers of 18.
 —, Industrial, regulation of, for registering religion of children 305.
 —, Kirkdale Industrial, liberal regulations of, 283—laws with regard to Catholic inmates 284—do not prevent proselytizing 285.
 —, Metropolitan District, statistics of 295—not affected by orders of Poor Law Board as to the registration of children's religion 299—system of Proselytism carried on by 299—discrepancy of Act authorising establishment of 306.
School, Saxon, at Rome, account of 236.
 —, workhouse, use of Protestant books in 289.
Science, philological pursued by Roger Bacon, 325.
 —, real, cannot be in contradiction with Revelation 51—modern theories of, not consistent with Mosaic narrative 51.
Science, theological, works on, should be written in Latin 357.
Section, 19th, of Poor Law Act, reasons in favour of 315—interpretation of, opposed to religious freedom 315.
Selection, instinctive, among animals, the cause of varieties of species 57—process of different as exercised by nature or man 74.
Settlers, European, in Japan, licentious, conduct of 404.
Shakespeare, numerous characters of, well known 108.
Shaw, Catherine, death of 480—suicide of discovered 481.
Shaw, William, story of 480—executed 481—innocence of discovered 482.
Sheridan, Mr., motion of, to enquire into state of Ireland 522—extract from speech of 522.
Signals, telegraphic, established in Japan 407.
Simonds, extract from on condition of the Campagna in middle ages 247.
Smart, Christopher, life of 109—his madness 110—extract from 110.
Smith, James and Horace, their writings 121.
Socialism, most strongly opposed by the Church 165.

Sophism, result of, reaction from mysticism 19.
Sovereign, every, should seek to save the souls of his subjects 92.
Species, Darwin's origin of, article on 50 to 81.
Species, may be considered in animals, only strongly marked varieties 71—sterility of, not proved 71.
Spirit, revolutionary, spread of, among upper classes in Italy 179.
Spiritualism, degenerating in present age 34—modern followers of 34.
Sponsors, power of, to determine religion of orphan children 304—available in cases of mixed marriages 304.
Star, Morning, extract from 448.
States, confederation of, in Italy, abandoned 171.
Statutes, all on same subject, according to Common Law to be interpreted together 453—in most cases to be construed liberally 454—how far admitting of codification 454.
Stevens, George Alexander, originator of monological entertainments 114.
Stewart, Robert, case of 490.
Stone, Rev. W., application of, to Board of Guardians to remove Catholic Children 292.
Studi, compendium, comprised in volume edited by Mr. Brewer, 339—resembles in character other works of Bacon 339—posterior to them 340—extract from 340 and 341.
Summa, of St. Thomas, not model of arrangement for theology 366—plan of not followed by theologians 366—merits of not dependent on method 366—high authority of in Church 368—triple divisions of 368.
Sun, worship of, leading idea of all mythology 16.
System, elective, in Ireland, open to influence 512.
System, English Workhouse, proposals for remedying 290.
 —, no human, can maintain its ground among men 435.
 —, religious, can be modified but not created by circumstances 29.
 —, reproductive in animals, causes influencing not known 61.
 —, different religious, points of resemblance between do not imply common origin 10.
Tails, theory on 64.
Teachers, pupil, should be chosen without regard to religion 284.
Telescope, theory of, laid down by Roger Bacon 344.
Tenants, rights of, considered 493.
Thames, evenings on, by Kenelm Digby, Article on 526 to 533—name of suitable to contents 526—extract from 528—style of discussion 533.
 —, river, simple enjoyments of 526.
Theodotus, codex of, bears witness of the desolate condition of Roman lands before temporal sovereignty of the Popes 234.
Theologians, scholastic, number of in age of Roger Bacon 318.
Theology, must be considered a science 359—works on must be written in Latin 360—cannot be changed in substance 361—connection of with philosophy 370.
Theory, inductive, known to the schoolmen 350—familiar to Roger Bacon 350.

- Ties*, family, strengthened by Christianity 99
—Catholics falsely accused of neglecting 100.
- Times* newspaper, its praises of Cavour 32—extract from 32—its language only worthy of contempt 34—extract from 96.
- Ting Nae*, large Catholic establishment at, described in Narrative of Mr. Oliphant 44.
- Trail* Mr., letters to, from Duke of Wellington 500.
- Tom Thumb*, by Fielding, good specimen of burlesque 118—derived from Bombastes
Furioso 118.
- Translation*, inaccuracy of in mediæval times commented on by Bacon 345, 346.
- Transmigration*, doctrine of, prevalent in Egypt 22.
- Treaty*, Japanese, stipulations of 410—Importance of 410—accepted from necessity 421.
- Trent*, Council of, no provision made by for translating Canons and Decrees 362.
- Trials*, Old Bailey, cases of unjust punishment contained in 490.
- Tricks*, inherited in dogs 66.
- Truth*, Moral, essential characteristics of 381—relating to God 391—difficult to be comprehended 392—theories on considered 393, 394
—objections to theory on, answered 396—natural rule of 399.
—necessary 380—identity of with the Divine Nature cannot be understood 380.
- Tuong*, Agatha, martyrdom of 41.
- Tuscany*, reckless expenditure in 179.
- Tyburne*, Article on 534 to 539—martyrdoms at little known 534.
—and who went thither in the days of Queen Elizabeth, work by Miss Taylor 534—brevity of, 535—merits of as novel 535—story of 535—extract from 538—merits of 539.
- Union*, Bermondsey, refusal of, to permit Catholic children under their charge to be transferred to Catholic institutions 292.
- Union*, Irish, effect of, on people 503—considered as boon by many Catholics 504—disappointing effects of 505.
- , Stappery, unfair conduct of its Board of Guardians 309—letter written by Board 311—its proceedings contrary to Poor Law Board 309.
- Use*, effect of, in producing variety of species 62.
- Uxas*, the, definition contained in, of the Delty 11.
- Veitans*, warlike character of 231.
- Vico*, account of, by Mr. Heron 470—little known in England 470—his theory on civilization of nations 471.
- Victor Emanuel*, his method for obtaining votes in Tuscany 153—drawn on by revolutionary party 164.
- Villiers*, Mr., deputation 290—his attempt to disclaim responsibility of August Order 343.
- Word*, Wm. G., Work on Nature and Grace, by 351—well known in Catholic world 351—appointed Professor of Theology, 352—pursues theological studies 352—reasons of, for writing work in English 363—work of philosophical not theological 363.
- Wellington*, Duke of, his composure in all affairs of life 498—his attention to distribution of places 499—not bigoted towards Catholics 501—supposed to favour Catholic claims when member of Parliament 501—his directness of purpose 502—his party not looked on with favour by Irish Catholics 506—his letters offering bribes 508—his letters to Charles Long on election business 510—his letter to Lord Castlereagh 511—to Lord Wellesley 511—to Lord Hawkesbury 512—to Mr. Trail 514—leaves for Copenhagen 513—his bribery transactions 514—his letter to Sir C. Saxton 515—acts entirely for his own party 515—his opinion on landlord oppression in Ireland 516—his exertions to fortify Ireland against French invasion 517—reports interview with Lord
Fingal 521—advises against concession to Catholics 522—harsh government in Ireland 524—his policy not calculated to promote union with England 525.
—, civil correspondence of, article on 497 to 520.
- William* IV., 19th section of, interpreted by order of Poor Law Board 303—careless drawing up of 303.
- Wives*, Japanese, noted for their virtue 419—punishable for infidelity by death 421.
- Watkins*, case of, in Bermondsey Union 291.
- Wolcott*, Dr., John, known as Peter Fingar 120.
- Women*, Japanese, customs of 419.
- Workhouses*, question of, not sufficiently attended to 270—does not receive fair investigations 270—Protestant inmates of, receive increase of religious comfort 271—Religious liberty in Ireland provided for by law 273—Protestantizing influence of our Catholic inmates 272—Differences of discipline in, as regards religious liberty of inmates 276—guardians of bound to see all Catholic inmates hear Mass on Sundays 280.
- Works*, public, must be proportioned to strength of government, by which they are undertaken 237.
- Writers*, anonymous, dangerous powers of 145.
—, Catholic, divided into two classes on moral obligation 358.
—, humorous in England, number of 128.
- Works*, Philosophical, want of in English literature 364.
- Xavier*, St. Francis, success of missions of, in Japan 403—acknowledged by Mr. Oliphant 403.
- Zaratini*, incorruptible conduct of 156—his murder 156.